

New Acquisitions

The McGill University Archives receives approximately 2000 boxes per year of McGill University administrative records, transferred under the authority of McGill's Records Retention Schedule. These transfers include both semi-active records designated for eventual destruction under the Schedule, and records identified for permanent retention. The University Archives has produced Guides to the official records of McGill University.

Private Papers

The McGill University Archives also acquires the records of select faculty and students, as well as the papers of organizations and individuals with a connection to the McGill University community.

Some of the following "new" acquisitions represent additions to existing fonds. Restrictions may apply to these acquisitions, either as a request of the donor or because the accession is not yet processed. For more information on these new acquisitions, contact refdesk.archives@mcgill.ca. For photographic and sound and moving image holdings, consult our list of searchable databases.
